Revising the Bill

The story is told of Doctor Brown, a country practitioner, who sent a bill to a high-tempered farmer, Bangs. The bill read: "Two visits—$10.00." When Bangs received it he practically exploded. Blue with rage he rushed to the doctor's office. "You're a robber!" he shouted. "Think of it! Five dollars a visit! It ain't worth it. You make out that bill like it oughter be, or I won't pay it!" "Very well, I will revise it," the doctor calmly replied.

Whereupon he wrote:

"To getting out of a warm bed at 2 a.m.; answering telephone; disturbing wife; dressing hastily in the cold; going to garage; cranking 'Lizzie'; driving five miles in zero weather over a treacherous, ice-covered road; treating you for pneumonia; SAVING YOUR LIFE; driving home; putting car in garage; awakening wife again; undressing; getting back into bed, half-frozen—five dollars. Second visit the following week at 1 a.m. to relieve baby of severe attack of croup."

Synopsis of Meeting of Board of Trustees

Following is a synopsis of meeting held by Board of School Trustees of the Arrowwood Consolidated School District on April 12th, 1933, at 8.40 p.m.:

All members of the Board were present. Chairman, G. Riches; Trustees, Mrs. F. A. Hall, J. Heskest, J. Webb and L. H. Irwin.

The minutes of the last regular and special meeting were read and approved as read.

There was some grain on farm land belonging to the School Board for taxes. On motion the Secretary was instructed to have all grain belonging to the School Board for taxes hauled in immediately.

A line of credit had been arranged at the Bank of Nova Scotia, subject to certain conditions being agreed to by the debenture holders on account of the past due payments on the debentures. $300.00 had been paid on the 1932 debenture in December last and $500.00 had been sent a short time ago which left about $1,000.00 still due on the 1932 debenture payment.

This would be taken care of by the school grant. The Bank loan of $750.00 due Dec. 31 had been paid. A waiver to the extent of $2,500.00 to pay salaries to Feb. 31, 1933, had been received from the debenture holders and the Bank were willing to advance this amount. Arrangements had been made to pay teachers and van drivers up to date.

The School Board had bought outright the trestles made for the staging by the Dramatic Society. The Dramatic Society offered them to the Board at half the cost, which they estimated at $5.00, and the trestles were bought at that price. This was not generally understood, as apparently this transaction had not been properly explained at the concert.

The Revelstoke Sawmill Co. had written, asking for a rebate of taxes on certain property in which they were interested in the Village. On motion the Secretary was instructed to advise the Village to collect the full amount of taxes.

A letter had been received from the P.T.A. requesting the Board to consider certain proposals.

Firstly—That a flag pole be erected on the school grounds and a flag supplied according to the school act.

Nature Cannot Be Defied.

It is recorded in Holy Writ that God created man and gave him dominion over all the earth, over the fish of the sea, the fowl of the air, over every living thing that moveth upon the earth; in a word, over every thing wherein there is life, including all fruit and seed-bearing trees and plants. In his conquest and control of these things man has waged, and must continue to wage, a never-ending battle, and he has waged it, on the whole, successfully and with increasing efficiency as the years and centuries have come and gone.

Exercising his dominion over every living thing, and as a means of exercising control over them and to secure for himself the maximum of benefits and comforts therefrom, man has gone further afield and assumed control over many of the forces of nature. He has overcome the obstacles of mountains by driving tunnels through them; he has bridged great streams and gorges; he has dammed mighty rivers to obtain power; he has delved into the bowels of the earth for fuel and minerals to serve him; through his inventive genius he has overcome the handicaps of distance and space, making both the sea and the air serve his purposes.

Still not content, man has attempted to control other laws of nature, but, with the progress of education and civilization it developed new forms, while not altogether abandoning the old idea of the application of physical force. Thus it came about that man made his great mistake in that he attempted to control forces he cannot control and which it was never intended he should control.

The world was created for man—the whole world for the whole race of man. His climate was varied, and with variations in climate there is variation in products and methods of living, each part having something to contribute to the welfare of man in other parts, and all going to make up a completed whole. But man developed narrow tribal and nationalistic instincts and emotions, lived himself off in groups in compartments, and sought to live unto himself, self-satisfied and self-contained, apart from the rest of the world. Such a mode of living might succeed for a time, but man was simply punishing himself, denying himself many of the benefits and comforts which an untrammeled nature intended he should possess and enjoy. The whole race of mankind is now paying the penalty for that great error.

This primary error led to many others, and man set his ingenuity to work to overcome the difficulties he had himself created. Having denied one great law of nature he thought to correct that mistake by defying other laws. He conceived the mistaken idea that he could, by the mere enactment of his own man-made laws, substitute artificial political boundaries for the natural boundaries as defined by geographical facts. He had changed the course of rivers, which could not be changed, the streams of man's intercourse, communication and trade with where nature designed that communication and trade should flow north and south, with one section the complement to the other, why should not man order otherwise and force communication and trade to flow east and west in order that it might be confined within certain narrow political divisions set up by himself in defiance of nature's laws?

Man thought he could do it, and he proceeded to try, with the result that the whole race of man is today mired in a morass of his own making. All men and all nations are floundering with no solid ground under their feet, in their difficulties and desperation they still blindly rely upon the enactment of one man's laws after another, each a further defiance of nature's immutable laws, to get them out of their trouble, instead of frankly acknowledging their own weakness and their own inability to control nature's policies, and allowing the laws of nature to operate freely without restriction or attempted control by man, who, after all, cannot control them.

But instead of musing such a man and sensible attitude: instead of admitting that the laws of nature are too powerful a force to be ignored and defied, and man has been tried before in this old world's history and it failed, as it always will. It is being tried again today under Fascism in Italy and Germany, under the Iron Curtain in Russia, and under the despotic government in so-called less enlightened countries. It may abide for a time, but it will fall sooner or later. And it will fall because man is an individual, with a mind and soul of his own. His initiative will not be denied. Man will eventually get back to recognition and observance of nature's unchangeable laws. Then, and then only, will he again achieve happiness and contentment.

Britain Rich In Minerals

Practically Every Known Metal Is Found In Empire

The news that the vast bends of high ore in Northamptonshire are to be worked on a great scale calls to mind the fact that Britain is still one of the richest metal-bearing countries in the world. This remains true despite the fact that during the past half-century, the total value of minerals raised in Great Britain was about three thousand five hundred millions of pounds. Of this, coal represents about two-thirds; the rest comprises nearly every metal or mineral in common use and a number of the rarer ones. Cornwall and Devon still produce tin. Immense quantities of rich iron ore lie below the surface, but so far below it that at present the mines cannot compete successfully with the shallow tin dredgers of Malaysia and the open workings of Bolivia. Cornwall, too, has copper, antimony and arsenic, to say nothing of radium. There is a reef of gold-bearing rock under the Forest of Dean which contains enough gold to pay Britain's national debt. Under present conditions, however, it does not pay to work it.

Favor Sterilization Plan

Stand Taken By Lieutenant-Governor Of Ontario Is Commended

The Toronto Local Council of Women and several clergymen joined in expressing appreciation of the stand on behalf of sterilization of the mentally unit taken by Dr. Herbert A. Bruce, Lieutenant-Governor of Ontario.

On recommendation of Mrs. R. G. Smyth, mental hygiene convener, the local council of women wrote Dr. Bruce acknowledging his stand. Mrs. Smyth said what the province wanted was permissive and selective sterilization of the mentally unit.

Rev. Canon Lawrence Skye, Anglican, said there were "two or three thousand" feeble-minded children in Toronto. We are all behind the Lieutenant-Governor and are proud that he has had the courage to speak his mind for the welfare of the people.

Scotland At Grain Show

Scottish Entry For Grain Exhibition At Regina

An entry of high quality oats, from a farm owned by same family for over 60 years, will be a challenge to the oat farmers of Saskatchewan at the forthcoming World's Grain Exhibition at Regina.

Officials of the exhibition announced that an entry has been received from Mrs. Maggie Eccles, of High Pinmore, Maybole, Ayrshire, the sample being registered in the oat section.

Mrs. Eccles operates a 230-acre farm close to the birth place of Robert Burns, the poet, and the farm has been in the same family for over 60 years, special attention being paid to oat production.

A long list of exhibition successes over a number of years is Mrs. Eccles' record. In 1921 she won the gold medal for grain at the national stock and grain show at Edinburgh.

Sugar Elevators

Raymond the First Place In Canada To Adopt This Plan

Sugar from this famous sugar-beet growing country will be stored in elevators in the same manner grain is stored. Raymond, Alberta, is the first place in Canada to take such a step.

The Canadian Sugar Factories, Ltd., announced that they would build four elevators at a cost of $50,000 for the purpose of storing the sugar produced in the Raymond area. Each elevator will be 30 feet in diameter and 125 feet high.

That Depressed Feeling Is Largely Liver

Wake up your Liver

You are "feeling down" because your liver is not doing its job. It is the liver that filters out the poisons from the blood, and if it is sluggish, the poisons build up in the system, causing a depressed feeling, indigestion, and other ailments. The liver is the largest internal organ, and it is the key to good health. To wake up your liver, eat a diet rich in fruits and vegetables, and avoid fatty foods. A small bottle of "Liver Tonic" will also help.

Sir Arthur Samuel, M.P., told an audience of horticulturalists at Knapsall, Surrey, England, that on the principle that "an apple a day kept the doctor away," he had eaten 80-100 apples during the past 40 years. He had eaten five apples a day. Thus he went to bed with an attack of bronchitis.

British Warship Condemned

Last One To Go Into Action Soley Under Sail

After 84 years' active service the old "Archibuteus"—the last British warship to go into action solely under sail—has been condemned by the Admiralty Surveyors. Since 1874 the "Archibuteus" has been used as a training ship at Greenhithe, under the management of the Shaftesbury Homes and more than 12,000 boys in these reformitory institutions have passed through the ship into naval or mercantile marine service. The "Archibuteus" is to be replaced by the "Pretoria" a four-masted steel barque, built in 1901, and an appeal is issued for $40,000 to pay for the purchase, alteration, and equipment of the new vessel. The appeal is sponsored by the Prince of Wales as president of the Shaftesbury Homes.

Good Ads Always Pay

Give Their Daily Message To The Buying Public

Experienced executives of successful stores know that "good ads always sell." That is why they keep hammering away, telling their message to the people day after day.

Presently Haskell turned around, smiling pleasantly. "I was disgruntled about something when you first came in, corporal. You really have kept your three days off whenever you like. You want to start tomorrow?" And when Bill nodded eagerly. "Very well, I'll throw in the rest of this evening. By the way, when you go past barracks ask Whipple to step down here."

"Snakes!" Bill breathed to himself, as he thanked Haskell and went out the door. "That Spring-bell Johnny must be winding up to ask a favor of me, or something. But I've got my three days to help Alan out. Lord, I hope Alan shows up during my free time. He might make me let me go along on his trip."

With no suspicion of the ugly truth, he turned up the twilight slope.

When Whipple came in, Haskell ordered him to close the door and pull down the window, to guard against possible eavesdropping. Then he tersely explained the situation. He added:

"Hardcock will probably steal some more gasoline and oil tonight. What he's already stolen isn't enough for a plane to do much manoeuvring on. I want you to watch him stealing that stuff so that you can later be a witness. He'll probably have time to take those drums only a couple miles from here tonight. Tomorrow he'll take all of it on to the place where he's been. Make Baker. He's been sneaking. It away little by little when he had the chance, and hiding it close by; but during his three days he'll take it to the meeting place."

You go down to the river bank now those two tapers get that. It's called Gai-Tonax. You remember Hardcock thrashing him one time last winter for carrying a squeak-bell and testing his wits on him. He's got a personal interest in this, he's just the man we want. Take a carton of my cigarettes with you and a little rum as a silence present. I'll personally pay him five dollars a day. Do you understand so far?"

Whipple nodded. Haskell went on: "You and the Indian are to shadow."

worst of it was that Buzzard was going to pay a heavy price for helping him on this thankless job. For himself he did not greatly care; he hardly thought of it. . . . He was headed north again, on his last patrol, his greatest patrol.

As they worked on north, they made most things good time, but only by incessant care and worry. Engine trouble caused them delay. Again and again they sat down on some unknown river or lake and sweated for hours over the old motor. Fuel was a constant problem. Avoiding Mounted detachments and Royal Signal corps stations like the plague, they dared stop only at wilderness-buried posts where radios were unlikely and no police hazard. They could never be certain of getting fuel, and what they did was usually half kerosene.

Alan was looking forward to his rendezvous with Bill as the end of all this worry about gas and oil. Besides the fuel there at Goose Point, Bill had promised to cache some supplies on the Alouksa near Joyce's home.

Alan was fervently looking forward to meeting Bill at En Traverser lake, to getting those precious supplies, to seeing Joyce again there on the Big Alouksa. All of his loyalty to the slaver of his dead partner could be put to rest by comparing Joyce's sterner personality with Elizabeth's leisure-bred ennui, and Joyce's two years of hectic sacrifices with Elizabeth's idle deliberate dependence.

On their last evening, worn out by a day of engine trouble and headwinds and blinding rains, they slept in a little spruce-buried lake on Silver River, about a hundred miles south of Fort Endurance. Anchoring the plane, they peddled across, cooked a warm meal, and rolled up in their blankets for a few hours of desperately needed rest.

"Tomorrow's the day of days," Buzzard remarked, thinking of the supplies and a base to manoeuvre from. "It's a day of days," Alan said, but he was thinking of Joyce running down the path, bareheaded in the rain, to greet them. Tomorrow he would know if she was safe. Tomorrow, after the rendezvous with Bill the White Speedair would be dropping down upon the Big Alouksa.

Buzzard was asleep almost instantly, but Alan, tossing in a useless attempt to sleep, finally got up, built a tiny fire, and heaved it, thinking, a deep pipe in his teeth.

Seven Thousand Men Are Combining
Place Areas in British Columbia
One of the highlights of the British Columbia gold industry for 1932 was the active search that was made for placer gold, according to the Dominion Department of Mines, Ottawa. The number of prospecting certificates issued, it is estimated that some 7,000 men, formerly unemployed, participated in this search. The number of certificates issued through the old placer areas, in the hope of making wages with the "Gold Pan" and "rocker." Experience has shown that the search for placer areas, particularly attention being given to the search for old pre-1914 and later placer areas, has been largely a failure. Reports of new discoveries of coarse gold, found underlying false bed rock are quite common in the old camps, such as the Caribou, Omineca, and other areas.

He Tried to Look Steadily at His Looming Marriage to Elizabeth.
As he sat there under the solemn spruces, he tried to look steadily at his looming marriage to Elizabeth, and decide his course. No longer blinded by idealization of her as a girl, he saw now, with pitiless insight, that all along she had not wanted him unless he had the good sense and was out of a North. He might love him as well as she had ever loved anybody, but to her he was not greatly more than a means of getting what she wanted out of life.

The prospect of marrying her when his respect was gone, made Alan wince. And his respect was gone with a vengeance. Those moments in the cabin, when she offered herself to him, had been a shock and revelation. She had acted not out of excuse, but out of love, but as a guarantee that he would take that Victoria job. He thought of the use with something of revulsion.

POULTRY RAISER CONQUERS "ROUP"

Protest Mink's Lintment As Remedy For Roup or
Read in this letter from G. Mink, of the "Poultry Raiser" in the "Poultry World" that all that gives "Roup" is a virus. "I tried many and failing to result, I wrote to the Poultry World, and was told to try Mink's Lintment. It is a tried and proven remedy, as well as the Brounch and Brounch. For sale by G. Mink."

Eventually he and Buzzard were able to be caught. It was as inevitable as sunset. Soon or late they would have to return to civilization and face the music. To Alan the

WHOLE FAMILY WITH INDIGESTION

A mother of four writes:—"Myself and family of four all seemed to suffer from acidity, pains in the back, and other forms of indigestion. I suffered whatever I ate. But since we have been taking Krunchen (for the last few months) we can eat anything and all enjoy our food much better. We never have a trace of acidity or pain now. I think it is wonderful. It has no upsetting results. Whatever we may have to go without, we could not give up Krunchen." (Mrs. M.C. Krunchen has salts of sodium sulfate, takes all the torment out of it, and gently expels it from the system. And by stimulating your organs of elimination to perfect regular action, Krunchen will prevent this harmful acid from ever accumulating again. After that you'll experience no more misery after meals. Krunchen will keep your inside clean and serene. It will invigorate blood and prevent coursing to every part of your body. You'll feel wonderfully energetic and well. As healthy and happy as it is humanly possible to feel.)

Now he was groping to see the honest and righteous thing for him to do. He wondered whether it would be courage, or a weak yielding to desire, for him to break with Elizabeth and sweep aside the obligations binding him. There was no question of this. Elizabeth was waiting for him; he had promised to marry her and take her out; he had burned his bridges and committed himself to matrimony. Yet it was wrong to enter a loveless marriage that would bring tragic unhappiness. It was wrong to marry Elizabeth when he could not hearted respect and love went out to Joyce MacMillan.

To the lonely anguish of his thoughts he had his decision more or less in the hands of time. He felt he must see Joyce again before he could take a decent step. If he did capture her six criminals and so cleared her father, she would be grateful with all his heart. He meant to tell her about the tragic happening which had bound him to Elizabeth. If he could win back that old intimate comradeship with her and they might know, then the righteous thing was to put Betty's happiness above Elizabeth's.

Little Helps For This Week

"Wait on the Lord, be of good courage, and he shall strengthen thy heart; wait, I say on the Lord."—Psalm 27: 14.

"He giveth power to the faint, and to them that have no might He increaseth strength."—Isaiah 40: 29.

Should we feel at times disheartened and discouraged, a comforting thought is a simple movement of heart towards God will renew our powers. Whatever He may demand of us He will give us at the moment the strength and the courage that we need.—Penelon.

We require a certain firmness in all circumstances of life, even the happy and perhaps, contentment comes in order to prove and exercise this. If we can only determine so to use them, the very effort brings back tranquility to the soul, which always enjoys having exercised its strength in conformity to duty.—Wm. van Houtbult.

The Easiest Way

The Port William Times-Journal says one of the reasons why the Government is so much eager to seek for new forms of taxation than to study new economies. Governments have much the same mentality as the fellow who gave a note in settlement of an account and then murmured, "Thank God that's paid."

Quality Cattle For Market

Red Label Beef Association Of Southern Alberta

The Government of the Province of Alberta has recently introduced a new feature in connection with the marketing of cattle. This feature is the marking of live cattle for market with a registered trade mark on each animal. The trade mark will be "RL" in a six-inch circle in red paint and will stand for "Red Label." The Red Label Beef Association of Southern Alberta has secured a Federal Government trade mark for Red Label beef animals. The trade mark can only be used on animals which grade up to a certain standard and the development is expected to be particularly important in the marketing of Alberta cattle in Great Britain.

Another report from the Alberta Department of Agriculture states that the Province had a heavy year in hog marketing in 1932 and has come to be recognized as one of Canada's principal hog-raising provinces. More than 1,000,000 head, or over 34 per cent of the total for all Canada, were marketed last year from farms in Alberta, an increase in the provincial proportion from 25.5 per cent three years ago. Last year 580,000 head of live hogs were shipped out, mostly to Eastern Canada, and 425,000 were slaughtered within the province.

LET MUSIC SPEAK

And now let music speak, for it can bring to life again all joyous things gone by. Can't you paint the rosy petals of the spring? And show the sparkle in youths' happy eyes? And it can summon with prophetic gleam the glad and tranquil seasons yet to come. Can't the doubting spirit to rejoice as song soars upon wings triumphant, free.

Let music murmur softly to you now And it will soothe away the hurt, the aching. And E. W. hand upon a weary brow Can charm life's hopes to fresher blossoming. It is a voice less human than divine, And wakes an echo in the soul's pure shrine.

FOR ANY PAIN

Have you ever found any quicker relief than this?

Anyone can take Aspirin, for doctors have declared these tablets perfectly safe.

And there is no quicker form of relief for any pain. It is well to remember these things when anyone tries to persuade you to try anything in place of these tablets.

Aspirin may be taken as often as there is any need of it, for comfort to stop a headache, throat or cold, drive away the pains from neuralgia, scitic, rheumatism, lumbago, etc. Whenever you take Aspirin you know you are going to get immediate results—and you know there will be no ill effects. You know what you are taking.

Why take chances on some form of relief which may not be as swift—may not be as sure? The new reduced price on bottles of 100 tablets has removed the last reason for over-experimenting with any substitute for Aspirin.

Aspirin is a trademark registered in Canada

Well, if you have had patience to go through that list you have done pretty well and there is good probability that the Oxford Group has something for you. Bishop Sherman will welcome these visitors to Calgary. And when people from as many countries undertake to visit a small western city, they must believe they have something worth "sharing" whether we believe it or not.

We may be able to tell you more about their work as we hope to visit Calgary during their stay and would be pleased to meet you there.

Secondly—That an early supervision be exercised over the school grounds and buildings at all times during the day from the time the vans come in the morning until they leave at night, and that a teacher be present in the dining room during the full lunch period.

These matters would be attended to by the board. The following accounts were passed for payment: Light account on stable $8.10, L. H. Phillips $5.85.

One tender had been received for driving the van on the route known as the Moss Route. Sam Moss had put in a tender for $2.40 per day to June 30 1933 and this tender on motion was accepted.

Sports equipment for the playground was badly needed and the Secretary was authorized to get equipment up to a certain amount for the whole school and to have anything on hand that was fit to be repaired to be attended to.

The school property was only for the use of attending pupils and if it were to be used on Saturday it would only be allowed under the supervision of one of the teachers or the coach.

On motion the meeting was adjourned.

Farmer Bangs silently read the bill, grinned sheepishly, and fished a ten-dollar bill out of his wallet and handed it to Doctor Brown.
